

The Saskatchewan Assessment Management Agency (SAMA) manages the province's property assessment system developed in consultation with municipalities, stakeholders and the provincial government.

SAMA also provides assessment and other related services to most cities, towns, villages and rural municipalities in the province. SAMA's appraisers value approximately 850,000 properties in Saskatchewan for assessment purposes.

2017 REVALUATION

SAMA conducts revaluations based on a four-year cycle. 2013 was the year of the last revaluation, and the 2017 Revaluation will see assessed values updated to reflect a new base date of January 1, 2015. The legislated base date means that 2017 values reflect a property's value as of January 1, 2015.

VALUATION STANDARDS

For the 2017 revaluation, Saskatchewan will continue to use a regulated property assessment valuation standard for valuing agricultural property. Legislation also requires that assessments are to be calculated using mass appraisal, be of the applicable base date, and equity must be considered by the appraiser as a dominant and controlling factor in assessment preparation.

The formulas, rules and principles for the valuation of agricultural land are found in the Saskatchewan Assessment Manual (2015 Base Year).

THE PRODUCTIVE CAPACITY METHOD

The valuation model for pasture land will continue to be based on productive value. The productive capacity of pasture land is defined by ecoregions, which are unique areas delineated by climate, topography and soil characteristics. After soil type and region are determined, the potential carrying capacity is established, which is measured in terms of animal unit months (AUM), where an animal unit is a 1,000 pound cow with or without calf. The methodology for rating the potential carrying capacity of a pasture was developed by the Saskatchewan Research Council, and takes into consideration:

- ▶ range site characteristics such as climate, soil texture, soil profile and topography;
- ▶ amount of native versus seeded grass species; and
- ▶ amount of tree and shrub cover.

Once the carrying capacity is estimated, a land rating (productivity index) is assigned. In addition there is also a pasture specific provincial factor (PF), which reflects the provincial average sale price for pasture land.

SASKATCHEWAN ASSESSMENT MANUAL [2015 BASE YEAR]

The valuation procedures for pasture land are contained within the Saskatchewan Assessment Manual. The pasture land valuation model applies to agricultural land best suited for grazing. The classification system for rating soils, as they relate to pasture range sites and respective carrying capacity estimates, is based on the Canadian System of Soil Classification.

The general valuation formula is as follows:

LAND RATING            X            PROVINCIAL FACTOR            =            ASSESSED VALUE

PROPERTY ASSESSMENT DOES NOT EQUAL PROPERTY TAX

SAMA's role in determining assessed value for properties is just the first part of a process established by provincial legislation. The second part is application of provincial government established tax policy, such as property classes and percentage of value, and statutory exemptions. The third and final part of the process involves municipalities annually determining the local mill rate based on local budget needs. The province sets the mill rate for the education sector. Municipalities then multiply the taxable assessment by the local mill rate* to produce property tax levies, also known as your property tax bill.

(SAMA)		(Province)		(Municipalities and Government)		(Taxpayer)
ASSESSED VALUE	X	PERCENTAGE OF VALUE & EXEMPTIONS	X	MILL RATES*	=	PROPERTY TAXES

*Municipalities have the authority to use a series of tax tools ranging from mill rate factors to minimum taxes. For more information on tax tools and exemptions see the Ministry of Government Relations website.
